

STONE COUNTY IRONWORKS

Custom Forge

For 30 years we have worked with designers and dreamers all over the country; sometimes interpreting a sketch or picture provided by our client, and other times working only with an idea, to discover and create just the right design.

Every item produced at Stone County Ironworks is hand-forged, one-at-a-time, by the gifted blacksmiths here in the hills of the Ozarks. Each and every piece is unique in some special way, carrying the individual markings of the artisan who crafted it. The Custom Shop will work with you to put your unique mark on every piece too, by collaborating on the unique styling and features that make your custom piece a one-of-a-kind treasure that will be admired for generations.

Custom Capabilities

Alterations

The objective in our Custom Shop is to ensure that every dimensional and styling need is met, delivering "the perfect piece", no matter how simple or complex the change. Alterations may be made to any product in our portfolio, and typically include changes to width, depth or height...special textures or finishes, and even adjustments to styling or physical features. Our custom upholstery capabilities will meet any unique seating requirement...using your fabric or ours. Our custom wood or copper-works make it easy to meet table-top and case-goods requirements. Complex alterations will be illustrated for you, while more simple changes can be communicated in writing for your approval. Typical alterations are fast, usually requiring less than three weeks to complete.

Unique Creations

A significant portion of the work in our Custom Shop consists of custom-designed one-of-a-kind pieces. Whether the completed design is provided by you, developed collaboratively with Stone County, or created for you by the Custom Shop, you can rely on the expertise of our artisan-blacksmiths to produce a unique and beautiful piece that reflects your vision. Prior to production, your concept will be sketched for you at no charge, to ensure that the final design reflects the size, features and styling you are looking for. Our custom expertise is reflected in every unique item we produce.
